Madame Yale's HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen.—It has gone on record that Madame Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic is the first and only remedy known to chemical science found to be a genuine hair specific. It has an affinity for the human hair for nourishing and invigorating its entire structure. It is antiseptic in character, as well as stimulating; its action upon the scalp and hair is truly wonderful, inasmuch as it has never been known in a single instance to fail to cure scalp diseases and to create a luxuriant growth of healthy, beautiful hair. It stops hair falling within twenty-four hours and brings back the natural color to gray hair in nearly every instance. It is not a dye; it is not sticky or greasy, on the contrary it makes the hair soft, youthful, beautiful and glossy; keeps it in curl. It is a perfect hair dressing, and can be used by ladies gentlemen or children as a daily toilet requisite. Its influence is delightfully soothing.

All Dealers sell it, $1 per bottle. Mail orders may be sent direct to the manufacturer.

FOR ROOSEVELT.

New York Overflowing With Enthusiasm.

Greater Reception Never Given Anybody In Metropolis.

One Grand Jubilee From Late Afternoon To Midnight.

New York, Oct. 26.—This city overflowed with republican enthusiasm to night, inspired by the reception given Governor Roosevelt. Beginning with the arrival of the governor at the Grand Central station at half-past five o'clock this afternoon, until midnight, when the Rough Riders' governor, tired and weary, went to his sister's home, to pass the night, such a succession of receptions, such displays of fireworks, such electrical exhibitions and such a volume of eloquence has never occurred here. It formed the closing climax of Governor Roosevelt's tour of thousands of miles. At five o'clock, the crowd began to gather at the Grand Central station. Five hundred policemen were posted there and forty mounted officers waited to act as the governor's escort. A few minutes before train time, the reception committee arrived. In one open carriage were General Francis V. Greene, Secretary of the county committee. When the train stopped at the station, there was a great cheer and the governor was kept bowing to the crowd all the way down the platform. At the end of the platform there was a delay of a minute or two and a number of women insisted upon pressing forward and shaking the governor's hand. He finally gained his carriage and was driven to the Fifth Avenue hotel, escorted by the mounted men. At the hotel the governor sat down to an informal lunch with the reception committee and a few others. Meanwhile the crowd was pouring into Madison Square garden by the thousand. At half-past six o'clock the magnificent fireworks display commenced. Great set pieces of "the fall dinner pail" and representations of McKinley and Roosevelt were cheered tumultuously. Another feature was the playing of many bands in unison, directed by a searchlight, and great choruses singing. Governor Roosevelt arrived at the garden at half-past seven o'clock. As he took his place on the front of the stand, the applause was deafening. General Greene introduced him as the strongest advocate of the administration's policy in the Philippines. The governor's address was received with enthusiasm. Other speakers were Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, former secretary of the treasury; Chairman Odell of the state committee, former Governor Frank S. Black, Senator Frye and Solicitor General Richards.

MANARLES Expecting Him. MANARLES, Oct. 26.—Mr. Kruger is expected to arrive here about November 11th. He will stay at least one day. An elaborate demonstration will be made in his honor.

SALISBURY AND CHAMBERLAIN.

LONDON, Oct. 27, 3:00 A. M.—The Standard, in a paragraph that was obviously inspired, says that Lord Salisbury will hold the double office of prime minister and secretary of state for foreign affairs and that Mr. Chamberlain will be secretary of state for the colonies.

"The Mill Cannot Grind with Water That's Past."

A fagged out, tearful little woman said this in telling her cares and weaknesses. Her friend encouraged by telling of a relative who was cured of just such troubles by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The little woman now has tears of joy, for she took Hood's, which put her blood in prime order, and she lives on the strength of the present instead of worrying about that of the past. Told Her Friend—"After having gone on my neck 42 years Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured me. I was so glad I told friends about it and a lady in Wisconsin who read of my cure told me she also took Hood's for the same trouble and was cured. She thanked me." WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Forecast for New England: Occasional rains Saturday, fair Sunday, fresh south winds.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Botha Still Lively.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 26.—Commandant Hans Botha has cut off a train conveying a reconnoitering party of the Highland brigade, between Heidelberg and Greylingstad, in the Transvaal colony, tearing up the rails in front and rear of the train. In the fight that occurred, two captains and eight privates of the Highlanders were wounded and all the troops were captured.

Mr. Steyn Heard From.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 26.—It is reported here that Mr. Steyn is at Fouriesburg, south of Bethlehem, and that he has declared that place the capital of the Orange Free State. Mr. Steyn, it is also reported, has ordered Keyter, member of the late Volksraad, to be tried for high treason.

Swallowed By British Lion.

PRETORIA, Oct. 26.—The Transvaal was today proclaimed a part of the British empire. The ceremonies were impressive. The royal standard was raised in the public square, the Grenadiers presented arms, the proclamation was read by Sir Alfred Milner and about 6200 troops representing Great Britain and her colonies marched past.

How Republican Arguments Were Answered.

Bricks And Other Choice Missiles Cast At Speakers.

Mob Dispersed By Patrol Wagon Load Of Policemen.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Republican arguments were answered with a fusillade of bricks, mallets, tin cans, eggs, pieces of bread and other missiles at the corner of Superior and Townsend streets this noon. A prosperity wagon was the cause of the disturbance. About five hundred men took part in the proceedings. Two of the speakers in the wagon were quite painfully hurt and a colored quartet that had been brought along was put to flight. Everybody in the street seemed to be throwing something. The mob lasted fully ten minutes. Then a patrol wagon full of policemen arrived and dispersed the crowd.

MR. SHERMAN'S WILL.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, Oct. 26.—The will of the late John Sherman, former secretary of state, was taken into the probate court today by Congressman Kerr and Attorney Parker of Washington and filed late this afternoon. It disposes of an estate worth two and a half millions of dollars. It is dated Washington, Dec. 22, 1890. Mrs. Mary Sherman McCollum is bequeathed $100,000, half of which she can take in real estate of her own choosing and the other half in bonds. After the other bequests have been deducted, she and five others divide the balance of the property, so that it is thought Mrs. McCollum's full share will amount to $500,000.

BOARD APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Secretary Long has appointed the following board to report on a place for a naval coaling station in the Philippines: Admiral Remy, Capt. McCulloch, Capt. Thomas, Civil Engineer Menocal and Lieut. Comdr. Niblack. Secretary Long has decided to summon a court of inquiry in connection with the collision of the torpedo boats Dahlgren and Graven off Newport, during the naval maneuvers.

GOING TO MANILA.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Orders were received at the navy yard here today to prepare the yard tug Wampatuck (the largest and most powerful tug at the yard) to go to Manila. The navy department is in need of boats of light draft, to run up the small streams and inlets in the Philippines, and the Wampatuck is fitted for this.

PROFESSOR EASTMAN ARRAIGNED.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 26.—Charles R. Eastman, the Harvard instructor, was arraigned in the Middlesex county superior court today, before Judge Sherman, on the charge of murdering Richard H. Grogan. He pleaded not guilty. He was remanded into the custody of the sheriff, pending further orders from the court.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

Min Will Work Monday For Those Who Grant Demands.

OTHERS ARE TO REMAIN OUT.

These Who Go Back to Work Must Be Prepared to Give Aid to Those Who Do Not—Statement From President Mitchell.

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 26.—The mine workers' strike has been declared off against all companies which have complied with the strikers' demands, and the strike will be continued against those companies which have not granted the demands of the Scranton convention. The strikers will return to work on Monday at the places where the strike is ended.

The following address to the miners has been given out for publication by President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers:

"After carefully canvassing the entire strike situation we, your officers, believe that your victory is so nearly complete that no good end can be served by continuing the strike longer. The contest has been in progress for 29 days, and the companies employing you have, with few exceptions, signified their willingness to pay the scale of wages formulated by the Scranton convention of Oct. 12 and 13.

"We are aware that some disappointment and dissatisfaction has been caused by the failure of the operators in districts 1 and 7 to separate the elements in the price of power from the advance in wages, but after careful inquiry we are satisfied that each mine employee will actually receive an advance of 10 per cent on the wages formerly paid. In the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions the largest companies have agreed that the sliding scale should be suspended and that wages should remain stationary at 10 per cent until April 1, 1901, thus removing one of the inequities of which you have complained for many years.

"While it is true that you have not secured redress for all of your wrongs; while it is true that the increase in your earnings will not fully compensate you for the arduous labor you are compelled to perform in the mines, you have established a powerful organization which, if maintained and conducted on business principles, will enable you to regulate many of your local grievances and make your employment less hazardous and more profitable than before the strike began.

"The companies agree in their notices to take up with their mine employees all grievances complained of. We would therefore advise that when work is resumed employees and that they wait upon the superintendents of the companies and present their grievances in an orderly, businesslike manner and ask that they be corrected.

"Your attention is respectfully called to the fact that the laws of the state of Pennsylvania provide that miners should be paid semi-monthly upon demand. We should therefore advise that each mine employee serve notice on the companies that he expects to be paid his wages twice each month, as provided by law.

"As there are some few companies who have neither posted, notified nor signified in any other manner their willingness to pay the 10 per cent advance in wages, we would advise that the most employed by such companies receive notice before Monday that the advance will be paid they remain away from the mines and continue on strike until the companies employing them agree to the conditions offered by the other companies, and the employees of the companies who have offered the advance of 10 per cent and abolished the sliding scale are hereby authorized to resume work Monday morning, Oct. 29, and to be prepared if called upon to contribute to a reasonable extent of your earnings for the maintenance of those who may be compelled to continue on strike."

OUT OF COAL SYNDICATE.

Reading Company Will Work Its Mines to Full Capacity.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—At an important meeting of railroad men held at the Philadelphia and Reading terminal last night the following were present: President Harris, First Vice President Voorhees and Second Vice President Henderson of the Reading company; William H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; George F. Baer and John Lowber Welsh of the Reading directors; John R. Garrett, vice president, and Robert H. Sawyer, assistant to the president of the Lehigh Valley; Thomas H. Watkins of the Temple Iron company; Dr. E. H. Howe of the Parole Coal interests and Colonel E. L. Fuller of the Wilkesbarre Coal and Navigation company.

The real object of the conference—similar to one held a week ago—could not be gathered, but the Reading company announces its intention to leave the syndicate and to mine coal hereafter as it finds a market.

"The Reading company can mine and market 10,000,000 tons a year," said a Reading executive official, "and if the other companies determine on a fight we shall meet them. The meeting was a conference on matters that cannot be made public, but there is service of notice that the Reading is no longer to be considered in the syndicate. We shall mine coal hereafter free of restriction and give our miners every opportunity to profit by work every day they care to work."

Enthusiasm in Wilkesbarre.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 26.—A bulletin announcing the ending of the strike was received here last night with the greatest enthusiasm by all classes. The news had been expected, and large crowds collected in front of the newspaper offices. Backmen in particular were much pleased that the conflict had come to an end. Among the companies that have not posted notices in this vicinity is the Susquehanna Coal company of the Pennsylvania railroad system, but some time ago the officials of that company issued a statement that when the strikers were ready to return to work the company would pay its men at the same rate as the other companies. There are some individual operators who have not posted notices. It is said they are holding back until they get a better carrying rate from the big coal companies. It is estimated that by Monday operators controlling 10 per cent of the output in the Wyoming valley will have agreed to pay the full 10 per cent demanded by the miners.

ROOSEVELT IN SYRACUSE.

Favorable Reception to Him in the Salt City.

Syracuse, Oct. 26.—The closing speeches of a strenuous day in the Roosevelt campaign were made at Auburn and Syracuse after jumps through widely divergent countries. Although it was a favorable day because while in Auburn and Syracuse there were several interruptions, the questions and answers were rather in a good natured form, and there was no friction which indicated a desire on the part of either questioner or answerer to enter into a personal controversy. Syracuse was a blaze of light, while thousands of people thronged the streets. The Auditorium, where the speechmaking was held, and the square, where the outside meeting took place, were both much too small to accommodate those who desired to hear Governor Roosevelt. In Auburn three meetings had to be held to accommodate the people.

The street crowd is estimated by police and other competent observers to have numbered fully 25,000, although some estimates go as high as 40,000. It was eager to applaud and full of McKinley enthusiasm. Both meetings were perfectly quiet. The governor was not provoked by interruptions or questions. He answers any that Mayor McKinley asks, and he directs the police to keep on the head anybody who attempted in any way to interfere with the Republican meetings. After the parade, which the governor reviewed, Genesee street was almost impassable, owing to the crowds surging in all directions on the way home. The Republicans recorded the demonstration as a highly successful exhibition of party zeal.

VANDERBILTS' GREAT DEAL.

Southern Pacific System Now Passes Under Their Control.

New York, Oct. 26.—The Vanderbilts have obtained control of the Southern Pacific system. Negotiations aiming at this accomplishment were begun two years ago, but were summarily disposed of by C. P. Huntington. The property was his, he said, and owing to it, he proposed to keep it. He wanted no alliances which could to any extent make him dependent upon interests other than those for which he himself stood. This important deal to which New York, London and Berlin houses had committed themselves was disposed of.

The death of Mr. Huntington brought about a complete change in the situation. The control of the Southern Pacific system, it can now be said, has been obtained by American financial interests, not hitherto identified with the property. Conspicuous in the syndicate obtaining the new control are William K. Vanderbilt, E. H. Harriman, James J. Hill, Norman B. Hays and James Speyer, the latter as the associate of Mr. Huntington, having been conspicuously influential in the direction of the company's affairs for years past.

Disobedient Motorman Killed.

Rochester, Mich., Oct. 26.—A passenger car and a construction car collided on the Detroit, Rochester, Romeo and Lake County Electric Suburban railroad as a result of Motorman Griffith not obeying orders to wait at Washington. The result of the collision was a crushed car, and Griffith received injuries from which he died. None of the passengers was injured.

Fatal Accident at a Parade.

Buffalo, Oct. 26.—During a political parade last night a horse became frightened by a display of fireworks and ran away. Mrs. Adams, 55 years old, was probably fatally injured, and six others received severe bruises.

ALVORD UNDER COVER.

His Capture Only a Question of Time.

HE WAS SEEN IN MOUNT VERNON.

Report That He Was There Last Night—Federal Commissioner Issues a Warrant For His Arrest—McClusky Takes a Hand in the Case.

New York, Oct. 26.—Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., who is said to have stolen $700,000 from the First National bank, was driven through Mount Vernon last night at 6:30 o'clock, according to two residents of that city who know Mr. Alvord well.

Alvord, it is said, was in a two horse coupe rockaway and was accompanied by three men besides the driver. The vehicle was not one from Alvord's stable, though it did not have the appearance of a lively stable carriage.

The men who say they saw Alvord are confident they could not be mistaken. Both are reputable men and have known Alvord for many years.

Patrick J. King, owner of the People's Opera House in Mount Vernon, reported last evening about 8 o'clock to Police Commissioner John D. Witt that he had seen Alvord in a carriage driving along First street in a southerly direction.

Captain McClusky, chief of the New York detective bureau, took the case of Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., the First National bank absconder, into his own hands yesterday. The result was a warrant for Alvord's arrest, and at last the machinery of the police department was set in motion to bring about his capture.

Until Captain McClusky took the initiative the municipal authorities had been ignored entirely by the bank officials. It was learned yesterday that the Mount Vernon property and all the furniture and improvements in the residence are in Mr. Alvord's name. When this transfer was made could not be learned. On this ground Mr. Alvord, it was asserted, sent back the contents of the bank to take any part of the property. The houses, furnishings and jewelry owned by Mr. Alvord are said to be valued at $300,000 or $100,000. One statement made was that about $200,000 could be gleaned out of the Alvord property if everything were seized.

Pinkertons Drop the Case.

It was announced last night that the Pinkertons had dropped the Alvord case and would no longer search for the fugitive. Whether this action is due to McClusky taking full charge of the case or whether the bank officials and the Pinkertons have had some disagreement could not be learned.

"Alvord has not been in the custody of any of my men, and we are not looking for him," was all that could be got out of Superintendent Bangs of the Pinkerton agency.

This sudden move on the part of the Pinkertons is regarded as significant. They were the first persons outside of the bank officials who were made aware of the robbery. They set to work at once on the case with the view of apprehending Alvord. Because there was no warrant out for Alvord's arrest until yesterday they had not the authority to arrest him, but could have been found he would have been held until a warrant was granted. Pinkerton men kept a close watch on the house of the Alvords in Mount Vernon for the first few nights after his disappearance, and every agent in this country and in port towns abroad was communicated with. But as soon as the Pinkerton men got authority to make the arrest they dropped the case.

Chief of Police Foley of Mount Vernon came to New York city last night. He was reported as having an engagement with Chief of Detectives McClusky. Chief Foley said he believed that Alvord is hiding in this city.

"I believe," he said, "that Alvord's attorneys are negotiating for his delivery. The bank's present aim, in my opinion, is to regain as much of the stolen cash as possible and also to apprehend any possible confederates. If there was any work for me to do in Mount Vernon, I should have been informed before. But the police work, if there really be cause for it, now centers in New York city."

The World says it was learned last night that Alvord is not the first employee of the First National bank who has been kidnapped. Just before Alvord was promoted to the place of paying teller there was a scandal that implicated one of the old employees in whom the bank officers had thorough confidence. How much the shortage was could not be learned. It was said, however, that as soon as the exposure came the man was dismissed, his bondsmen and friends made good the amount, and the matter was hushed up.

Alvord's Family in Hudson.

Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Cornelius L. Alvord's three children, accompanied by their nurse, arrived at the home of Alvord's uncle in Stockport yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. They were not accompanied by their mother. It is stated on good authority by the people living in the vicinity of the Alvords' homestead that the defaulting teller was seen in Stockport village on Monday, and it is quite generally believed that he is in that vicinity yet. Close surveillance is kept of that vicinity by officers, and if he is there he will be apprehended.

New Lake Built Steamer.

New York, Oct. 26.—The steamer Wacamac, the first of a fleet of six steamers to be put in operation by the Atlantic Coast Steamship company for the lumber trade on the Atlantic coast between Georgetown, S. C., and northern ports as far as Boston, has arrived here from Toledo. The Atlantic Coast Steamship company is a new organization with a capital of $1,000,000, which will engage in carrying North Carolina lumber from Georgetown to northern seaboard cities.

Movements of Naval Vessels.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The Dorotha went out of commission at the League Island yard. The Scindia has sailed from Singapore for Canton. The training ship Hartford has left Lisbon for Madeira. The Albrechts is reported at Apia, Samoa Islands, on Oct. 4. The Yankton has left Newport for New York. The Scorpion is at Port Monroe.

Missing Captain's Body Found.

Chambers, France, Oct. 26.—The body of Captain de France, son of the general of the same name, was yesterday discovered at the bottom of a precipice below Maulin fort, in the commune of St. Martin d'Arce. Captain de France disappeared last spring, and it was believed that he had been murdered.

FILIPINO GOT AWAY.

Expedition to East Coast Captured a Town and an Island.

Manila, Oct. 26.—General Hall, with 700 men of the Second, Eighth and Thirtieth regiments and the Maunabo scouts, has returned after spending 21 days in the mountains between Navotas and Binangonan, province of Tarlac, east coast, in pursuit of the insurgent general Gaitan, who escaped to the south. General Hall reports that he found the country deserted except by farmers and herders.

A detachment of 250 men, with whom it was proposed to prevent Gaitan's flight northward, embarked on the transport Garonne and awaited at Binangonan the arrival of the troops, who were marching overland for that place. The troops received a hearty welcome from the inhabitants of Binangonan, and two companies under Captain Fremont of the Second regiment established a garrison there.

General Hall then re-embarked for the island of Manila, east of Luzon. The transport on which the reconnaissance was made grounded twice on the reefs surrounding the island, but was hauled off by the tugboat Yorktown. General Hall found an ungrateful insurgent village. The inhabitants willingly surrendered to the Americans, who were cheered. The expedition then returned to Manila on the Garonne.

During General Hall's operations one soldier and 18 Chinese bearers died of exhaustion. The transport Thomas has arrived here with one battalion of the Eighth infantry, one battalion of the Fifth infantry and 500 recruits under General Caman.

BRYAN IN JERSEY CITY.

He Makes Five Speeches There to Large Gatherings.

New York, Oct. 26.—William J. Bryan spoke five times last night to the largest audiences that have gathered in Jersey City during this campaign. From meeting to meeting he was escorted by 5,000 partisans. Most of the buildings in the streets through which he passed were lit up with electric light, and fireworks were hurled in plenty from the sidewalks and cheered the candidate enthusiastically.

It was a quarter past 8 o'clock when Mr. Bryan's train arrived at the Marion station. State Senator Cushman and Harry B. Paul of the Democratic state committee then turned the candidate over to Robert Davis and Peter Hauck of the Hudson county committee.

The streets around the station were packed with persons, who cheered them as they passed. Mr. Bryan appeared. Mr. Bryan spoke from a truck in a large open space at Tompkins avenue, where 5,000 persons were packed. In the throng were 500 persons from towns in Monmouth county who came on a special train.

Sahara Explorers Return.

Bordeaux, Oct. 26.—An immense crowd gave an enthusiastic welcome to the officers and a number of the men of the French-Lamy expedition, who returned from west Africa on board the Ville de Paris after accomplishing for the first time in French colonial history a journey across the Sahara from Algeria to the French Congo. The mission has achieved much valuable scientific success. Representatives of President Loubet and General Andre, minister of war, received the members of the expedition, delivered addresses and distributed decorations.

Charged With Illegal Naturalization.

Boston, Oct. 26.—Five residents of East Cambridge have been arrested by federal officers charged with "knowing" by swearing falsely in a matter relating to the naturalization of an alien. They are as follows: Representative Cornelius Mullan, green; Patrick Heibert, foundryman; Patrick Jordan, machinist; Edward C. Bradley, sewer employee, and Arthur L. Farrell, student Harvard Law school. All were committed to jail in default of bail.

Largest Nugget of Gold.

New York, Oct. 26.—The biggest nugget of gold ever received at the assay office in Wall street, according to Superintendent Muson, arrived yesterday from a mining company in British Columbia. It was consigned to the New York agents of the Bank of Montreal. The nugget contained a fraction over 733 pounds of the solid yellow metal and is valued at $154,000. It came in a solid cone the shape of a beehive and stood about two feet high. It required four men to remove it from the truck in the assay office to the scales.

FILIPINOS' ATROCITIES.

Dean C. Worcester Tells a Terrible Story.

WHOLESALE ASSASSINATION PLOT.

Women Are Inhumanly Treated and Thrown into a Well to Die—Friendly Male Natives Murdered For Abandoning Insurgent Cause.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—A special to The Tribune from Ann Arbor says that Regent Dean of the University of Michigan has received a letter from Dean C. Worcester, a member of the United States commission in the Philippines, which is in part as follows:

"At present the insurgents are resorting to the last resort of wholesale assassination. They are putting prices on the heads of men known to be friendly to the Americans and are resorting to the most heinous tortures and mutilations in order to influence the common people by fear. A letter was captured a few weeks since from a man sent in to organize insurgent committees in four or five towns where we have established municipal government. He stated that he had found it impossible for him to carry out his mission, as the people had unfortunately been seduced by the Americans, and said that he could do nothing until four or five lives had been taken in each of these towns.

"I saw a surgeon a few days since who had just dressed the wounds of four natives whose tongues had been cut out for refusing to join in a night attack on one of our garrisons. Colonel Kennon, who is in command of a regiment in Nueva Ecija, recently gave me a detailed account of an attack on a party of defenseless natives, half women, who were known to be friendly to us, by an insurgent band.

Woman Horribly Mutilated.

"A part of the command was moving along the road, when they saw a woman staggering toward them. The back of her head was covered by a pile of hair, scalp and clotted blood, her chin had been crushed in, and the imprint of the muzzle of a rifle, and a hole had been thrust into her lung from behind and turned around in the wound.

"She was naturally greatly excited and collapsed before more information could be got out of her. She was put in a house and the colonel spread the word that he would burn every building in the vicinity if she was molested before help could be sent to her. As soon as possible she was removed to one of our hospitals, where, contrary to the expectation of every one, she revived sufficiently to give an account of her experience. She stated that their absolutely defenseless party had been attacked, the throats of the men had been cut, the women had been outraged, and she had been pounded into insensibility. When she recovered consciousness, she found herself in an old well, with earth and rubbish thrown on top of her, together with the other women of the party, of whom a part were still alive."

Mr. Sherman Buried.

Manfield, O., Oct. 26.—John Sherman was laid in his final resting place here yesterday afternoon. Simple were the ceremonies, marked only by the presence of lifelong friends, including President William McKinley, and by the presence of 10,000 persons. Between the hours of 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. while the casket lay before the white beveled altar of Grace Episcopal church, where Mr. Sherman worshipped as a youth, and up the narrow aisle of which through long years he had as vestryman, thousands of persons passed before the catafalque, paying their last tribute to their fellow townsman. The services were short and simple. There was no formal sermon, only the simple ritualistic service of the Episcopal church. During his course Governor Sherman followed by the Ohio state officials, filed down the aisle and took a last look at the peaceful face in the casket.

Three Killed in Freight Wreck.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 26.—A freight wreck has occurred on the Illinois Central, resulting in the death of three persons. The McGowan City accommodation passenger train had stalled on the main line, and the brakeman went back and flagged freight. Another freight was immediately following, but on account of the heavy fog the engineer of this train did not see the signals of the flagman, and the train crashed into the caboose, killing H. G. Petty of Starkville, B. Kennedy of Vidalia and C. H. Gunn of Bradley, this state. The men killed were stockmen accompanying shipments to New Orleans. None of the trainmen was injured.

Strike Shuts Thirty Shoe Factories.

Quebec, Oct. 26.—Thirty shoe factories employing 1,000 men shut down as the result of difficulties between the union and the manufacturers. The trouble grew out of the refusal of a union man to work for weekly wages instead of piece work. He was discharged and a nomination man engaged. As a result the manufacturers' committee thereupon decided to shut down until a better understanding is obtained.

Roosevelt Honors Requisition.

Albany, Oct. 26.—Governor Roosevelt has honored a requisition of the governor of Illinois for the extradition to that state of Louis Vohon, who is under arrest in New York city charged with having robbed a mercantile concern in Chicago. It is alleged that he appropriated funds belonging to the company to his own use.

Newark Murderer Sentenced.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 26.—Thomas Eldridge, colored, has been sentenced to 20 years in the Trenton state prison for the murder of Thomas Maloney on May 21 last. The murder was the result of a saloon quarrel. Eldridge had retracted his plea of not guilty and had pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree.

Detroit Fireman Killed at Fire.

Detroit, Oct. 26.—Five last night destroyed the three story brick building occupied by Meyer Jacobson, junk dealer, corner Catherine and Hastings streets. Falling walls killed Lieutenant Ragsdale, fireman, and injured four others. Loss on building, $8,000; stock, $5,000.

Wealthy Mohawk Valley Man Dead.

Cannoharie, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Prisoner Spraker, aged 75, one of the wealthiest men in the Mohawk valley and president of the National Spraker bank of Cannoharie, has died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William G. Cady, in Brooklyn, where he had been visiting.

IN THE THEATRICAL WORLD

FOR MONDAY NIGHT.

The policy of the management of A Hot Old Time has been that of progression, and at every opportunity improvements have been made in both company and material, until this season finds the attraction even better and stronger than on the occasion of the original production when it achieved such enviable success. Nearly all of the music introduced in the piece was written especially for it, and it was in this production that the popular song of the season,
"Lady," a song that is sweeping this country from ocean to ocean was first heard. Strong specialties are introduced by Gracey and Barnett, J. Aldrich Libbey, Barry and Halvers, Pearl Revere, Tom Ripley, Marie Vaughan Thomas I. Kednetic, Kate Traylor and a superb selection of scintillating sonnettes. Special scenery is carried out the costumes are picturesque and pleasing and it comes to Music Hall again.
Monday evening sure of a more hearty approval than it received last season.

TEDDY AND THE PANTALETES

Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York is said to be extremely fond of the trama and especially likes a play that will make him laugh. His appreciation of Neil Burgess' characterization of Abigail Prue in the County Fair during one of the performances at Albany recently was so thorough that everybody

NEIL BURGESS
AS "ABIGAIL PRUE" IN
"THE COUNTY FAIR."

in the immediate vicinity had another element of enjoyment added to the program. "Teddy" is a dignified individual and has excellent control of his facial muscles, but Miss Abigail's pantalettes were too much for the governor and when his countenance did break out, it was a revelation of hidden, quiet and unsuspected depths of humor.

HEARTS OF OAK.

Hearts of Oak, like its companion folk. It is perhaps more melodramatic than Shore Acres, and possesses more comedy situations. A first class presentation is promised, an elaborate scenic

THE BIG SPECTACULAR PLEASED.

Charles H. Yale's The Evil Eye was given at Music Hall on Friday evening to an audience that took abundant delight in the performance. The piece is of the spectacular order and is built somewhat on the line of The Devil's Auction (also controlled by Mr. Yale) embracing acrobatic novelties, ballets, singing and dancing specialties and other diversions in plenty. It is undoubtedly the costliest spectacle on the road today. The company numbers close to forty people and enough special scenery is carried to fill several baggage cars. Prominent in the cast are two lively and versatile acrobats, C. Arthur Borani and Thomas Elliott, who, as Nid and Nod, create a gale of laughter and keep it going all the time they are on the stage. Gus Bruno and Mayne Mayo figure very cleverly in the performance, while Lora Lieb and Charles E. Flynn are heard to advantage vocally.

One of the best features is the electric ballet, something quite new and decidedly beautiful. All in all, The Evil Eye proved one of the most satisfactory attractions that have been seen here in many a night. The audience, which was of fair size, did not hesitate to put its stamp of approval upon the show by the heartiest of applause throughout.

Rates May Advance.
A local insurance man remarked, on Friday: "I should not be surprised if the rates in fire insurance went up considerably, before many months. This subject of increased tariffs has been considered by individual cities more or less in the last few years, but usually it has remained for some disastrous fire to bring matters to a climax in the way of an immediate advance in the rates.
It is a fact that, in view of the enormous fire waste throughout the country, a condition is rapidly confronting the insurance companies which can be met only by a general raising of rates everywhere."

Bothered By Leaves.

"These dead leaves are more than bothersome to us," said a motorman on the Portsmouth electric road, Friday.
"They interfere more with the progress of the cars than most people realize. We have a hard time in checking our cars in response to the signals and have had to put up with some quite unnecessary complaints from passengers lately. A friend of mine who runs on the front end of the Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill road told me, the other day, while he was making a short visit with me, that the rails on that line are so bad that the snowplow has to be run over them about every morning to clear away the leaves that accumulate during the night."

Ought To Be Some Racing.

"Perhaps it is somewhat early to be thinking about it," said an enthusiastic horseman, "but there ought to be some racing this winter here than ever before.
There are fully a dozen men in town who own the fastest horses and they should all get out when there is good sporting and show the speed of their critters." We had quite a number of races last winter, but something seems to tell me that the Marginal road, and Richards avenue will see more fast beats this coming snowy season than ever. Stoddard, the McCues, Shepard, Maclean, Scruton and the rest of the bunch can make a lot of good sport, if they want to do it."

THE PREACHER'S SALARY.

An Evangelist Makes a Contract Which Pays Him Very Well.

In certain sections of the United States, notably in those where the religious confession is the strongest and the congregations the poorest, and these characteristics are always combined, there is an ever present conflict as to what the preacher ought to have and what he is going to get,
and it was on this subject a visiting preacher talked the other Sunday at dinner with a reporter.

"At one of my appointments where I had been called," he was saying, "to conduct a revival I heard a couple of the members talking, though they did not think I was near enough to hear.

"I wonder what that fellow expects to get," said one.

"All he can raise of course," said the other.

"He wears good clothes, and they've got to be paid for."

"Yes, and I reckon we might as well make up our minds to pay for 'em."

"The conversation was becoming personal, and before it got too much so I went and placed where it would be decidedly embarrassing I broke in.

"Now, look here, brethren, you don't have to worry about what you are going to pay me. You don't have to pay me a cent unless you want to, and I am not here to get money for my work.

Still, I have to live, and I'll agree to this—every time you get a lick in my sermon while I am here you just pay me a nickel, and if I don't hit you at all it won't cost you a cent. Now, is that fair? Is it a bargain?"

"They agreed to it with great unani-mity, and I went ahead with my preaching, but the best I knew how and pray ed for the folks to keep the truth to the people and to help them to be better men and women, and I kept it up for a week and was ready to start in on the second week, when one of my men came to me behind the little log meeting house where I was reading my Bible.

"So you're going to preach another week," he said anxiously.

"Yes," said I.

"Well, for the Lord's sake, Brother Hudson," he said in the most pleading tones, "I wish you'd quit and go home.
You've hit me so good a lick already that I'll have to sell the only pair of mules I've got and a yoke of teaming cattle to pay you what I owe you already, and if you stay another week I'll have to give up the farm and put a chattel mortgage on the old woman and the children."

"Of course," laughed the preacher, "it wasn't quite as bad as he made it appear, but I handled a good friend of him, and he not only paid me shamefully, but insisted on my coming again and staying twice as long."—Washington Star

We Make Friends In Youth.

When old men are young ones, they afford a sad, and, in fact, rather a gres-some spectacle, like that of a death's head smiling among butterflies, but it is not so much the old men as the young ones who are the cause of the spectacle. It is the young men in ordinary transactions who are plucky enough to go on with the butterflies, and not to throw up the sponge before they are compelled. Their ardor for work is sometimes excessive—indeed in some cases they are seized with a desire for glory, which, under the circumstances, looks very like madness, but it is a privately conscious of a sad falling off in promptitude. Their judgment may be as good as over, but their intellectual motions are tardy. Those with whom they were wont to consult are often no longer with them. They have become isolated.
"Broken, unfriended, melancholy, slow,"
is a line very appropriate to their condition.

It is some curious that Shakespeare should have mentioned "troops of friends" as accompaniments of old age. This statement is only true as regards those who have the gift of existing personal attachment, the few who live the largest life, the number of those attracted to them, but with the vast majority of mankind, friendships are made in youth, but afterward by no means easily, and therefore when men come to be old they have only their contemporaries, a small and dwindling "troop," whom they can call their friends.—James Payn in Nineteenth Century.

How Would Be Spell It?
The expense of Bernard Shaw, the English critic. It seems that the latter was commenting upon the limitations put upon him in his Saturday Review work and complaining that he really had no opportunity to express his opinions in the English press. It was as a club in London that he started upon a trade against the narrowness of the publishers of England—their unwillingness to sanction his socialistic notions. It was to Max Beerbohm that he broke out as follows:

"I am going to publish a magazine some-of these days, and I shall print my opinions on all the topics of the day. I have enough of them and to spare. On art, literature, philosophy, music, the drama, socialism, religion and every other subject this magazine shall reflect my opinions. I shall write every line of it too. The experiment might fail instantly, but it shall at least have a trial."

"What will you call your periodical?"
asked Max Beerbohm.

"I'll give it a concise and appropriate title by naming it after myself," said Mr.
Shaw.

"How will you spell it?" Mr. Beerbohm inquired innocently.—New York Telegram.

Tinned Food.

The reason tinned foods so frequently cause trouble when eaten, especially if they have been kept open a few hours during the hot weather before consumption, is that so much of the tinned foods in the cheaper markets are derived from old ships' stores. A ship upon sailing lays in certain stores of tinned foods. It often happens that these are not touched on the voyage, and they may go another voyage or not, but ultimately they are sold as old stores. The tins are then cleaned, re-colored, fresh labels are resold. So again and again quantities of tinned food may be resold year after year, and some of these come upon the general market and are sold in seaport and inland towns.—Dr. J.
F. J. Sykes.

Herring Net.

According to Lord Tweedmouth, the area of the herring nets used in Scotland one year was no less than 104,000,000 square yards, and the total amount of the lines in daily use was 82,000,000 yards, or about 42,000 miles, or enough to go once and three-quarters around the globe.

Soap Bubble Hues.

The beautiful colors seen in the soap bubble arise from the fact that the bubble being very thin, reflects light from both the outer and inner surfaces of the film.

BIRD SUPERSTITIONS.

QUEER BELIEFS FOUND IN THE FOLK-LORE OF MANY NATIONS.

Among the Oldest Are Those Relating to the Common Cock—Origin of Rome's Sacred Goose—The Sacred Ibis of Egypt.
The Robin's Red Breast.

Birds have held a prominent place in the religious life of man from the earliest times. They seem to be connected in one way or another with the superstitions and the folklore of every nation, civilized or savage.

Among the oldest superstitions are those relating to the common cock and hen.
These fowls were carefully watched and studied by the ancient augurs, particular notice being taken of the time and place of their crowing, which was interpreted for good or evil. In the Bible the cock is conspicuous at the time when Peter denied his master. It is said its figure on church spires was placed there to remind men of this circumstance. In the early hours of the morning the cock crows a warning to the dead as well as to the living, and all ghosts that are wandering about the earth must return to the land of spirits.

Mohammed declared that in a revelation he saw in the first heaven a cock, so large that his crest touched the floor of the second and heaven. The crowing of this celestial bird aroused from sleep every living creature except man. When this cock crows to crow, the judgment day will be at hand.

With the ancient Romans the goose was a sacred bird. During the invasion of Rome by the Gauls, a detachment of soldiers in single file proceeded up the hill of the capitol so silently that the leader reached the top without being challenged, but when he was climbing over the wall the noise disturbed some sacred geese in the temple of Juno. The geese began to cackle and awakened the garrison, when Marcus Manlius rushed to the wall and threw the luckless Gaul back. In commemoration of this event the Romans carried a sacred goose in procession to the capitol each year.

According to Greek mythology Argus was set to watch Io, who had been changed into a cow. Hermes, ordered to release Io, called Argus to sleep with the music of a shepherd's pipe and then killed him. Here (Juno) set Argus' hundred eyes in the tail of her favorite bird, the peacock.

This bird, among the early Christians, was emblematic of a glorified body. Its feathers have adorned many a throne, and were at one time among the ornaments of the kings of England.

The sacred Ibis of the Egyptians was supposed, from the color of its feathers to symbolize the light and the shade of the moon. It was the incarnation of the god Thoth, who in the guise of this bird escaped the wrath of Typhon. It is said that its feathers would scorch and even kill on contact. The bird was believed to deliver Egypt from wicked and other serpents that came from Arabia. It was celebrated for its purity and drank only the purest water. Its love for Egypt was thought to be so great that the bird would die of self starvation if transported elsewhere.

The stork was probably considered more sacred than any other bird except the Ibis.
It was the type of filial attachment among the Greeks, the Romans and the Hebrews, who believed that the young repaid the care of their parents by remaining with them through life and attending them in old age. In Holland boxes are built for the storks, and it is a fortunate thing for a household to have the box occupied.

The dove has been largely employed in Christian art, representing peace and purity. It was the dove, you know, that Noah sent forth from the ark to find dry land.
It has been represented with seven rays proceeding from its breast, forming in some stars, symbolizing the seven gifts of the Holy Spirit. Holding an olive branch, the dove is emblematic of peace, and when seen issuing from the lips of dying saints and martyrs it represents the human soul purified by suffering.

Mohammed had a pigeon that was taught to speak and of which he was very proud.
He thought that the bird brought him messages from heaven. There is a superstition that any one sprinkled with the blood of a pigeon will never die a natural death. A sculptor carrying home a bird of Charles I. stopped to rest by the way. At that moment a pigeon was struck by a hawk overhead, and the blood of the bird fell upon the neck of the bust. The incident led to the superstition, when the unfortunate monarch was beheaded shortly afterward.

In England and America the robin red-breast is welcomed as the harbinger of spring. The joyful melodies that he pours forth foretell a beautiful harvest. There is a tradition that when the Saviour was on his way to Calvary a robin plucked a thorn from his crown and the blood that issued from the wound fell upon the breast of the bird and dyed it red. It was once a prevailing belief in England that the robin will cover with leaves the body of any dead person that it may find.

There are many superstitions connected with the raven. It is spoken of in the Bible as an instance of God's protecting love. In popular superstition it is an evil omen, foreboding death and desolation.
It was the favorite bird of Odin, the superior deity of the Scandinavians. He had one each shoulder, and they told him of all things of heaven and earth.

Equally unlucky is the crow. When one flies over a house and caws thrice, it is said to foretell a death. Crows seen to the left of the observer signify a loss of money.
There are two occasions, however, when the crow is a good omen—nine crows in a row on a fence foretell speedy marriage, and a white crow in a flock means the inheritance of a fortune.

The swallow is a bird that brings good fortune. It is said to carry a pebble from the seashore to give sight to its young.
The cuckoo tells the length of life and informs maidens when they will be married.
It is called the "rainbird," from the erroneous notion that it comes only before a storm.

The hooting of the owl is believed by some persons to foretell a death, while others say it means a change in the veat-—Louis E. Seaber in Philadelphia Times.

"A UNANIMOUS VOTE."

How a Poll For President Was Taken on a Canalboat.

"When I read of the polling of passengers on trains and boats running into and out of New York city to ascertain their preferences as to candidates," said a gentleman who has long been identified with transportation interests to a Boston Harald man, "it reminds me of a story my father used to tell of the campaign of 1836.
In those days there was still a great deal of traveling by canal, and some of the "pockets" on the Erie were fitted up almost as sumptuously, for the time, as the palace cars seen now.

"A large party was coming east from Buffalo on one of these passenger boats and excited discussion over the respective merits of Van Buren, Harrison, White, Webster and Mangum.

"It was on one of those warm October days when the cabin was too torrid for occupancy and all the passengers were assembled on the deck. The leaders in the informal political debate were a Democrat and a Whig, both fluent talkers and clever in argument, and pretty soon everybody on board gathered around to listen to them.
Presently the Whig suggested that it would be a good idea to take the sense of the meeting, and the Democrat, after a quick look about, agreed. He obtained silence and announced.

"Gentlemen, we are about to take a vote for president of the United States.
Are you ready?"

"Ready!" was the prompt answer on all sides.

Just then the steersman called out the customary warning, "Low bridge!"

"Here was the Democrat's opportunity, and he seized it.

"All those in favor of Martin Van Buren," he shouted, "stoop down. Contrary winds, stand erect!"

The boat at this moment reached the bridge and every man dropped as if he had been shot.

"It's a unanimous vote!" declared the triumphant partisan of the sage of Kinder-hook."

BULLET OF CLAY.

It Perforates a Piece of Iron Under Remarkable Circumstances.

A curious illustration of the power of light matter to perforate more substantial substances when driven at a high velocity occurred in the royal arsenal in the course of experiments on firing gas in muzzle-loading guns. Cooper-Kirk a special gun is employed to do duty for a bore hole with a charge of high explosive and pressed cylinders of raw clay 8 inches long and 1 1/2 inches in diameter are used to represent tamplugs. These "shots" are made to act in various mixtures of air, coal dust and gas, and to stop the course of the plug, eventually a cast iron target plate 1 inch thick was placed 25 feet in front at an angle of 45 degrees in order to break up everything into dust and throw it upward. After three or four shots with this arrangement the clay plug, weighing 7 1/2 ounces, perforated the inch iron plate, and the hole thus made has been steadily extended since.

The familiar tallow candle passing through a door must hide its head before a 7 1/2 ounce plug of clay perforating an iron plate an inch thick at an angle of 45 degrees. Doubtless the velocity, under the circumstances, was enormous. The calculated velocity for a half cylinder of this weight and size to cut through an inch of wrought iron at 45 degrees would be over 1,800 feet per second.
With cast iron and clay and the three or four repeated blows everything is so greatly altered that there is little more to be said than that the effect is remarkable and unexpected.—Philadelphia Press

How He Broke It.

From the London Telegraph comes an amusing anecdote of Joseph Chamberlain, the English parliamentary leader. Some visitors had passed through Mr. Chamberlain's orchid house at Highbury one morning, and a very valuable plant was discovered broken.

Mr. Chamberlain, it is said, almost lost his temper and declared that sightseers should not be allowed to be welcomed. Then he interrogated the gardener in charge of the house. The man appeared confused, but protested that he didn't do the damage.

"I was very sorry when I saw it done, sir."

"You saw it done? Then, of course, the visitors did it?"

"No, sir, the visitors didn't either," said the man.

"Speak out, man!" cried Mr. Chamberlain. "I am resolved to discover the culprit."

"You did it yourself, please, sir, for I saw you. You were walking up and down and releasing something. I heard Lord Salisbury's name, sir, and Mr. Gladstone's, and then you struck out with your right arm, sudden like, and down went the orchid."

The master smiled, and sightseers were not forbidden the orchid houses.

Story of a Bullet.

Le Petit Journal relates a remarkable experience of M. Charles Jallerat, who was wounded in the year of 1870 while serving in the artillery. He was struck by a bullet in the left temple, and in spite of repeated attempts the surgeons were unable to extract it. They expressed the opinion, however, that the man might live for years with the bullet in his head. As a matter of fact, for 27 years it did not trouble him in the least. Last May, however, the bullet, which had remained buried in the frontal tissues, moved up toward the brain and M. Jallerat became insane.
For nearly a fortnight his mind remained unbalanced, but happily the bullet again shifted its position, and M. Jallerat recovered. He did not feel any more inconvenience until quite recently, when he experienced a curious sensation in the throat.
He succeeded in forcing the obstruction into his mouth, and was very much surprised to discover that it was the bullet which he had carried in his head for over a quarter of a century.

Clear Case.

"If the court please," said the eloquent attorney for the defendant, reported by the Cincinnati Enquirer, "this reptile is clearly a liar of high degree. He claims that he was assaulted in my client's saloon, thrown into the street and his $3 hat thrown after him. I can bring a score of witnesses who will testify that if the villain had been assaulted as described my client would have kept the hat."

The total wealth of Great Britain, with all her possessions, has been estimated to be $28,000,000,000. France comes next with $7,500,000,000. The wealth of the six largest nations in the world aggregates $33-000,000,000.

The national debt of Great Britain in 1805 amounted to nearly $200,000,000. In 1895 it had been reduced to about $855-000,000.

come sluggish. During the winter I the constant ache made me miserable. I was so sore over my kidneys that I could hardly pick anything from the floor and was excruciating. I went to Philbrick's aches and soreness entirely disappeared."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1900.

Bryan is a lawyer, but you can hardly believe it after reading his arguments.

General Apathy and ex-Candidate Towne are both recorded among the mysterious disappearances.

Crocker denies that he gave $50,000 to the Bryan campaign fund. We assume then that he merely lent it.

It seems to be generally conceded that the democratic attempt to tug the young man Abelson into the campaign was a large and dismal fizzle.

Inasmuch as the empire failed to arrive on the time originally scheduled, it may be that George Fred Williams went down the line and headed it off.

Moreover the Hon. Grover Cleveland wishes it distinctly understood that he is still seated on the top rail of the fence and entirely satisfied with the view.

Bryan's richly upholstered special train got away from him the other day, and the country is scheduled to do the same thing a week from next Tuesday.

Perhaps the condition of the country will never exactly suit Crocker until it is such that every young man can afford to take a $5,000 pup along with him to college.

There is no better authority on the condition of affairs in Cuba and the disposition of the people of the island toward our government than Governor-General Wood, who is now at Washington. In a statement just published giving a resume of his forthcoming report, Gen. Wood says: "The condition of the people of the island, to the best of my knowledge and belief, is one of content, and they realize that wonderful progress has been made and they feel as a people kindly toward and have faith in the people of the United States."

After a long period of patient submission to deliberate misrepresentation and atrocious falsehood concerning its course in the Philippines, the federal administration, speaking through one of its most distinguished members, has become the accuser and arraigned its detractors before the bar of public opinion. The speech of Secretary Root at Canton is the government's final answer to its maligners. It is not only a complete and brilliant vindication of the aims and policies of President McKinley, but it stands as a formal indictment against the reckless demagogues who by wilful perversions of the truth have obstructed the benevolent purposes of his administration.

The "imperialism" which President McKinley is seeking to establish in the Philippines is the imperialism of enduring peace, prosperity, popular education, home rule and absolute security for the life and property of every individual. The complete record of his conduct has been laid bare to the world by the secretary of war. On that record the republican party challenges the honesty and patriotism of every so-called "anti-imperialist" in this nation. For if untiring devotion to duty, steadfast faith in the performance of national obligations and an unalterable resolve to stand by the flag wherever it may float—these constitute imperialism, then is very truth the republican party an imperial party and proud of it.

NAVAL MATTERS.

Items of General Interest, Personal Mention and Various Notes.

The navy department has been receiving offers for the metal from the wreck of the battleship Maine, which is to be removed in Havana harbor. Those who want the metal will make it into souvenirs, if successful in securing it.

Admiral O'Neil prates the double turret system, which, he says, is an unquestioned success.

It is recommended that the Baltimore's battery be modernized while she is being overhauled, so as to give her 12 6 inch naval rifles and a good secondary battery.

Large quantities of excellent smokeless powder were procured during the year from private manufacturers, and the new battleships, as well as the Atlanta, have been supplied with it, while a stock has been accumulated for general issue.

These naval orders have been issued: Lieutenant L. F. James, from Texas to line duty on the Vixen; Carpenter B. D. Pender, from Massachusetts home, and writ orders when discharged from Portsmouth hospital.

PROBATE COURT.

The following was among the business transacted in the probate court for the county of Rockingham for the week ending October 24th:

AT THE NAVY YARD.

Pay Clerk H. E. Minkler has been ill with a severe cold.

Coxswain Schrioter handles the yard ferry with perfect ease.

The tug Nezinecott is once more engaged in carrying water for yard use.

Admiral O'Neil evidently overlooked the needs of the department at this yard.

Twenty-five thousand dollars is being expended for new tools in steam engineering.

The employees of steam engineering are more than pleased with their recent promotions.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of Mrs. Marion L. Stiles will be held from her late residence, Cabot street, tomorrow, Sunday, after noon, at 2:30 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

A Kittery sportsman, who is also a provision dealer, recently returned from a hunting trip and furnished his customers, free, with choice venison.

Wise Women Take...

Nature's rational cure for all those ills known as FEMALE TROUBLES.

25 Bond St., Lynn, Mass., July 23, 1900. For a long time I have been suffering from female weakness, stomach troubles and terrible headaches. I was so bad that I used to faint away on the street. I took two bottles of Tangin, and it is perfectly wonderful the food I have done me and I shall use it right along if ever I have a return of my troubles. Only one who has suffered as I have can tell of the gratitude I feel toward Tangin for having restored me to complete health. I strongly recommend it. Mrs. C. H. Field.

TANGIN is a tonic that goes directly to the source of all womanly troubles, giving strength and vigor to the weakened organs, and charging the entire system with all the elements which produce sound health. There isn't a bit of uncertainty about its curative powers. Its action is prompt and positive. The woman who takes Tangin begins to feel better within twenty-four hours from the time she takes the first dose.

50c. & $1.00 per bottle SEND US A POSTAL CARD and we will send you a free sample of Tangin, together with a booklet explaining the ills peculiar to women. Address Tangin, New York

THE KITTERY FAIR CLOSURE.

Friday evening closed the fair of the Knights of Pythias in Kittery. The evening was devoted to the selection of prizes and gifts and the sale of all goods remaining unsold on the tables.

No stage performance had been arranged, but the guests found other ways to interest them. The fair has been in every way a success.

The committee of arrangements was: W. E. Grogan, Walter Jackson, Bert and F. Moore, Oscar Clark, Charles R. Wassett, Mark W. Paul, Fred W. Cross, Joseph Hussey, Charles K. Butler and Benj. P. Bunker.

A POINT THE WORLD SWINGS ON.

And Boston—Well if you have been there an even hundred times you don't know the "old town."

You can go to some new place every hour for a month and at each place find something that will interest you. Boston's sacred landmarks are Banker Hill monument, the Old North church, Copp's Hill burying ground, the old Cradle of Liberty, the old State House, the old South church.

Its later day interesting points are the public library, State House, Trinity church, Symphony hall, the score of magnificent public buildings dedicated to educational work, and the great office buildings wherein is transacted Boston's business.

Of course in a city like the Hub there must be amusements of all kinds, and Boston's theatres rank among the best in the world, while the productions which "hold the boards" are ever the most stupendous and brilliant that the theatrical world can present.

Don't you think that with such an array of entertainment and sight seeing as is at hand in Boston at present, you ought to take advantage of the low rate fare "Excursion that the Boston & Maine is to run to Boston from Portsmouth on Nov. 1 by the regular train? The rate for the round trip is but $1.70 and the limit on tickets allows you to remain in Boston until Nov. 2. This is the trip you want, so don't miss it.

HE GOT AN INTERVIEW.

The Reporter Was Green, and Huntington Helped Him Out.

The late Mr. Collis P. Huntington, the multimillionaire, was a hard man for reporters to reach or to get an interview from even after being seen. A few years ago a new reporter was assigned to see him and was given no warnings as to the difficulty of the task. In an outer room a youthful clerk kept him waiting half an hour. Mr. Huntington was busy.

"You tell Mr. Huntington," said the reporter, "that unless I see him at once I'll go away." He had a vague and uncertain idea of Mr. Huntington's standing in the business world.

In less than a minute the clerk returned, saying, "Mr. Huntington asks that you step in." As the newspaper worker stepped in the multimillionaire looked at him over his spectacles. "Well?" said he.

When the object of the call was explained—which was to get details of a railroad deal involving millions—Mr. Huntington looked at his questioner curiously. For the reporter was boyish in appearance and a bit timid besides. Just a moment the railroad man waited. Then he began an elaborate account of railroads and stocks. His hearer saw that he could never understand what was being told him.

"Excuse me," he interrupted, "but will you do me a favor? You see, I've only been connected with a newspaper a few days. Will you be so kind as to write me a few lines on this consolidation, so that I can study it out?"

Mr. Huntington looked at him again over his glasses. Then, without a word, he turned and wrote on a piece of paper that lay on his desk—wrote for 15 minutes.

The story got in the paper that same day, almost as Mr. Huntington had written it. The next day the reporter was complimented for his good work by the city editor. He had secured an interview with the railroad king where veterans had failed.—Saturday Evening Post.

Laid Down the Law to Dad.

"I told you, daughter, I wanted a man for a son-in-law, not a dhole, like you Mr. Kawbanks, who parts his hair in the middle and smokes cigarettes."

"Dad," said the earnest eyed girl, "the constant use of tobacco makes a man nervous. You know, there's no tobacco in cigarettes. That means equal division. Nature and common sense indicate that a kipsided head is excusable in a Hottentot chief, and a hair part from the left ear to the right eyebrow may be hygienic; but, dad, if you think I'm going to marry a man whose hair is jagged part on his hair to show he's a man you're away off the reservation. And, say, dad, I love you, and I don't want you hurt. You mustn't go talking like that when he's around." Then dad walked away whistling before saying, "I just reckon she would."—Kansas City Star.

Work of Gossips.

Men in large cities either do not marry at all or wait until late in life. This is the reason why people in small towns marry young: Two people commence going together. Within a month the gossips begin commenting on what a nice couple they are and predicting that they will marry. Things drift along this way until the gossips become impatient, and then they begin abusing the man and say that he is just fooling the girl and will cast her aside. The girl hears of this, tells her lover and suggests that they marry. The man gets mad at the gossips and marries the girl. Marriages are not made in heaven. They are made by the gossips in a small town. Not one man in ten wants to marry. The average man is in love with his liberty, independence and lack of responsibility, so if the girls want to marry they may consider the gossips their faithful allies.—Early (La.) News.

Preachers Praise

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

No higher praise can be given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People than the many voluntary testimonials from ministers of the gospel. Here is one from Rev. Amos Hill, Grand Junction, Iowa: "I am a firm believer in the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. For three or four years I was a sufferer from general debility. I seemed to be lacking in vitality. I was tired out most of the time and sleep gave me no rest or refreshment. I was troubled with headache much of the time and although I was not confined to my bed, my illness incapacitated me for energetic work in my pastorate. "A sister-in-law living in Nebraska, who had suffered very much and who has used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with good results, recommended them to me and I decided to try them. I had taken but two or three doses of the pills when I found that they were helping me and further use of the remedy brought such relief that I am glad to offer the public recommendation of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in the interest of suffering humanity. HAD HIS REVENGE.

How the Novelist Squared Accounts With His Supposed Critics.

Kirkcaldy had been unbrokeably Liberal ever since the reform act of 1832, but his Liberalism was of a mild type, which was aptly represented by Colonel Ferguson of Raith, father of Mr. Munro Ferguson, now M. P. for Leith. Colonel Ferguson had first been elected in 1841, and at four subsequent elections he was returned unopposed. At the general election of 1859 the more advanced Liberals of Kirkcaldy determined to run a Radical against the sitting Whig, and looking about for a suitable candidate they lighted on Mr. William Vernon Harcourt.

The future chancellor of the exchequer was then aged 32 and was favorably known as a brilliant recruit to the Liberal army from the ranks of Toryism. His profession was that of a barrister practicing at the parliamentary bar, but he had dabbled successfully in literature, and he was understood to be one of the most vigorous contributors to the newly founded Saturday Review. Now it so fell out that in 1859 a man who has since become one of our most popular novelists was living in Edinburgh and had made himself much beloved in literary circles there. One of his earliest novels had been savagely reviewed in The Saturday, and he had been told that the writer of the review was Mr. Vernon Harcourt.

Kirkcaldy election gave the novelist an unexpected but most welcome opportunity for revenge. He made the most vehement efforts to defeat his critic. He appealed to every friend and acquaintance in Edinburgh and the neighborhood to save Kirkcaldy from this literary bludgeoner who had ungloried and gone about to killing the young and tender offspring, and as the novelist had close friends among the journalists of the town and district, he was able to wield considerable influence. In the event Mr. Vernon Harcourt was defeated by 18 votes, and the novelist was satisfied. Thirty years afterward he was narrating the history to the late Mr. Justice Stephen, who gravely replied: "I cannot pretend to regret the result, but, as a matter of fact, Harcourt had nothing to do with that review of your novel. This I happen to know, for I wrote the review myself."—St. James Gazette.

Star Routes.

One of the United States postoffice inspectors assigned to duty on western star routes, is an interesting story explaining why post routes supplied by couriers on horseback or by stage came to be designated "star routes."

Years ago three words found place on the records of the postoffice. They were "certainty," "celerity" and "security." In subjects pertaining to the transmission of the mails no words were repeated so often. Up to 1845 no contract for carrying the mail was let unless the bidder made known the manner in which he proposed to carry it. There was an understanding that bidders who ran stages should have the inside track, but congress knocked out this practice by enacting a law by which contracts were to be let to the lowest bidder without taking into consideration the manner in which the mail was to be carried from one place to another, stipulating only that it must be handled with certainty, celerity and security.

After that the postoffice clerks classified such bids as certainty, celerity and security routes. The use of this four word designation became so common that the clerks cast about for some appellation easier to write, and they hit on the plan of substituting three stars (" * * * ") and from that incident the pony and stagecoach lines became known as star routes.

The first reference to an advertisement of these routes were explained as being "certainty, celerity and security routes."—Chicago Record.

The Captain Managed It.

Some men in a public house were inventing stories to pass the time away. They had all had a turn at it except an old sailor, who had remained silent all the time until prompted by the others to spin them a yarn. He began:

"It was once in a dreadful storm. All the provisions were washed overboard. I was very ill and ate nothing for four days. At the end of that time I began to feel hungry, and the steward gave me beef, chicken, port wine and eggs."

"But you said all the provisions were washed overboard. Where did the beef come from?"

"From the bullocks" (bulwarks), said the old sailor.

"And where did you get the chickens from?"

"From the hatch."

"And the port wine?"

"From the port-hole."

"And the eggs?"

"Eggs?" said the sailor. "I didn't say eggs, did I?"

"Oh, yes you did," said the men. "We've caught you now."

The old sailor thought he was caught and had no counter. As he sat he said: "Oh, yes, I did have eggs. The captain ordered the ship to lay to, and he gave me one."—Strand Magazine.

A Sagacious Dog.

An officer in passing on one of the bridges crossing the Seine had his boots, which had just been polished, soiled by a puddle running against them. The same thing having occurred more than once, his curiosity was aroused and he watched the dog. He saw him roll in the mud of the river and then watch for a person with well polished boots, against whom he contrived to rub himself. Finding that a certain shoeblick was the owner of the dog, he finally made him confess that he had taught the dog the trick in order to procure custom.

Some Very Curious Relics.

Some time ago a report was current in the continental newspapers that a Paris dealer in antiquities was offering for sale "the skin of the serpent that tempted Eve." The ingenious trader informed all persons who called at his shop to see this rarity that Adam, in a fit of indignation, had killed the serpent. A correspondent of the Vossischer Zeitung states that he has lately seen in a household's window in the health resort Bourbois a scarcely less important "Scriptural article" offered for sale. A thick and ugly eugled, apparently not worth more than half a franc, was labelled, "A stick of genuine olive wood from Jerusalem. It formerly belonged to Pontius Pilate, in the year 27 of our era. Price 7,000 francs."—Westminster Gazette.

One of the fashionable colors most prominent in winter headwear for the coming season is green, shown particularly in medium and dark shades, with a touch of gray in them. At the same time brown holds its own in eye shade, and also a rather deep tawny gray, these being the colors most affected for felts. Milliners are also reviving a taste for reds, the new shades of rich crimson being advocated as particularly becoming to the complexion.

ALL RECORDS PASSED.

The gold funds of the United States treasury attained a higher point Friday than has ever been recorded in the history of American finance. The steady demand for paper currency has reduced the narrow margin on hand and substituted gold, which the banks are glad to surrender under present conditions for any paper money they can get. The total gold on hand today against all classes of obligations was $451,477,404.
This is larger than the gold reserve of the Bank of France, or the great stock of the Bank of Russia and the imperial Russian treasury. The American gold is held partly against outstanding gold certificates to the amount of $212,725, 499, but the remainder amounting to $238,752,905, belongs to the government, either as a part of the special fund of $150,000,000 set aside as a reserve fund, or a part of the fund of $88, 725,905 of free gold in the general cash.

NEGLECTFUL SELECTMEN.
Hampton Will Have No Legal Election, Nov. 6.

There will be no legal election in the town of Hampton on Nov. 6, the selectmen having forgotten to post the warrant which the law in the state requires to be done at least fourteen days prior to the election.

The citizens have maintained a diversity of opinion as to the method of procedure in such a case, but Selectman Ross settled all disputes by obtaining legal advice here yesterday. It will be necessary for the legislature to legalize the doings of the meeting.

The members of the board of selectmen were all elected last March.

A COMING SCRAP.

of Lowell Matched.

Sam Lewis of Haverhill, Mass., has been in town recently, and has completed arrangements for the bout between his brother, Si Lewis of Haverhill, and Kid Brady of Lowell. The bout will take place Nov. 8 in this city.
providing the police allow it.

Brady has won seventeen out of twenty eight battles thus far this year, and one of them were knockouts. The Haverhill man believes, however, that he has a Waterloo in store for his opponent.

A preliminary bout will be between Billy Welch of Dover and Jack Adams of Exeter, who will fight a six-round go for a decision, meeting at 136 pounds.

MR. LECKEY RESIGNS.

Thomas C. Leckey has resigned from the position of manager of the Postal telegraph company's office in this city, which he has held with unvarying faithfulness for quite a number of years, and his successor will assume the duties about the first of November. Mr. Leckey's resignation was forced upon him by his growing cigar and tobacco business, which is making so many demands upon his time that he feels obliged to devote his entire attention to it. The Postal office will remain in its present location.

REAL ESTATE SOLD.

The Charles A. Sinclair property in Brookline, Mass., has been sold to P.
Briggs Wadsworth by the executors of the estate. It comprises a house and 10,585 feet of land at the corner of Sewell avenue and Stearns road, and a lot of land containing 11,314 square feet at the corner of Harvard street and Sewell avenue. The house on Stearns road is assessed for $6,000 and the land for $13,500. The lot on Harvard street is assessed for $10,500. The total assessment is $30,000.

LEATHER ADVANCES.

Word has been received that the price of sides and backs had advanced a cent a pound. This was the result of the action of the trust and the smaller concerns quickly followed suit. The trust has recently made a good trade in leather and saw fit to make the advance local dealers feel that the advance will have a material effect on the shoe industry, and the change will be for the better.

Two runaway girls, aged 17 and 18 respectively, were captured in this city Friday by the police. The girls belong in Lowell, Mass., and have been enjoying high life at a house on the outskirts of the city. They returned to Lowell with Inspector Robinson on the afternoon train.

IN DESPERATE STRAITS.

The New Hampshire opponents of Senator Chandler are evidently in desperate straits when they resort to the circulation of a roorback that an alliance has been made with the Bryan party and that the democratic members of the legislature will support the present senator.—Haverhill Gazette.

HOME AGAIN.

C. Edwin Tilton arrived home from Manila on Friday afternoon, having been met in New York by his brother Frank. His return was signalized very happily by an evening party of his kindred and a few intimate friends, at the home of his parents on Wilbird street.
Mr. Tilton went to the Philippines last February, to take a clerkship in the United States naval establishment at Cavite. A few weeks ago, he was ordered back to this country, on account of ill health, and made the ocean journey on the cruiser Buffalo, coming through the Suez canal and the Mediterranean. The young man is no more pleased at being home again than are his relatives and numerous friends to have him once more in their midst.

BOWLING.

The roll off at the bowling alleys on Friday evening, for a box of cigars, was won by Churchill, who reached the fine total of 272. His first string, 105, gave him a start which could not be overcome by the other five competitors.
The scores were as follows:

Churchill.....	105	87	80—272
Nickerson.....	83	88	78—249
Kirvan.....	87	82	79—248
Buehanan.....	77	79	69—225
Fay.....	71	80	72—223
LeSage.....	68	75	80—223

A FIENDISH ATTACK.

An attack was lately made on C. F.
Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions.
No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters, which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at the Globe
